Content Summary:

This is a special AUSA edition of Raytheon's Dual Band podcast series. Each day of the show, we'll profile senior company leaders and showcase some of the aerospace and defense technologies being spotlighted at the Washington Convention Center

On today's podcast: Dan Smith sits down with Dual Band. We also find out more about the importance of precision on the battlefield and why that's a key discriminator in the Afghan conflict, and we talk with the artist who designs the annual poster that Raytheon gives away at AUSA.

Guests:

- Dan Smith, president of Raytheon's Integrated Defense Systems Business
- Michele Lohmeier, deputy, Land Combat, Raytheon Missile Systems
- Jim Ryan, poster artist
