

Directed Energy Solutions

Innovation. At the speed of light.

Imagine affordable security solutions with an infinite magazine, surgical precision, and speed of light velocity. At Raytheon, we've done more than imagine them — we're actively building and delivering them, harnessing electromagnetic energy to create revolutionary capabilities for customers worldwide. Raytheon has developed, tested, and fielded the widest array of Directed Energy solutions in the world. Our unmatched expertise translates into innovative technologies that protect aircraft, defend against missile and mortar attack, and provide a next-generation advantage — yet remain cost-effective and fully interoperable with today's systems and platforms.
