

Targets beyond line-of-sight.
Proven beyond any competitor.

Raytheon is the only company with the team and technology to early field a combat-proven guided projectile and successfully end-to-end test fire its MRM dual-mode seeker guided projectile — twice. In digital semi-active laser (SAL) and autonomous modes, our mature MRM design delivers superior precision and assured lethality. From beyond line-of-sight distances, it enables the warfighter to eliminate threat systems ranging from advanced armor with active protection systems to bunkers and fortifications. Our partnership with General Dynamics-OTS ensures a proven one-shot capability critical to the Future Combat System Brigade Combat Team.
