

Frank R. Jimenez is vice president, general counsel and corporate secretary of Raytheon Company. He is a member of Raytheon's senior leadership team and participates in the operational management and strategic planning of the company. Raytheon Company (NYSE: RTN), with 2016 sales of $24 billion and 63,000 employees, is a technology and innovation leader specializing in defense, civil government and cybersecurity solutions. Raytheon is headquartered in Waltham, Massachusetts.

Jimenez provides leadership for the company's legal and regulatory affairs, ethics and compliance programs, and corporate governance activities. He is also responsible for corporate staff activities in the areas of real estate, risk management, and safety and environmental quality. Jimenez has served in a variety of senior executive, leadership and legal positions in both government service and in the private sector.

Prior to joining Raytheon, Jimenez served as general counsel, secretary and managing director, Corporate Affairs of Bunge Limited, a Fortune Global 200 agribusiness and food company with 35,000 employees and $60 billion in 2013 revenues. Prior to Bunge Limited, Jimenez served as senior vice president, general counsel and corporate secretary of Xylem Inc., an S&P 500 water technology spin-off from ITT Corporation. Jimenez joined ITT in 2009 as vice president and general counsel, responsible for the legal, regulatory and governance aspects of the company, including its separation in 2011 into two new public companies, Xylem and defense technology company Exelis Inc.

In prior public service, Jimenez served as the 21st General Counsel of the Navy, one of seven Senate-confirmed Pentagon civilians of four-star equivalent rank overseeing the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps. In this role, Jimenez led a global office of nearly 850 staff as chief legal and ethics officer, and advised senior Navy and Marine Corps officials on litigation, acquisition, contractual, fiscal, environmental, property, personnel, legislative, ethics and intelligence law issues.

Biography

Jimenez also served in the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) as the deputy general counsel (legal counsel) for the U.S. Department of Defense (DoD), working with the White House Counsel's Office, Department of Justice and other agencies as the Defense Department's senior attorney in charge of litigation. Jimenez advised senior DoD officials on a wide variety of legal questions and supervised the Office of Legislative Counsel and the Defense Office of Hearings and Appeals. Prior to his service in OSD, Jimenez was the principal deputy general counsel for the Department of the Navy.

Before his 2004 arrival at the Pentagon, Jimenez served as the chief of staff at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). As chief of staff, he assisted Secretary Mel Martinez in managing more than 9,000 employees and an annual budget surpassing $30 billion. Prior to that, Jimenez served nearly four years in the executive office of Florida Governor Jeb Bush, holding posts as deputy chief of staff and acting general counsel.

Before his time in government, Jimenez was a Miami litigation partner at Steel Hector & Davis LLP (now Squire Patton Boggs). He began his career in California as a law clerk for Judge Pamela Ann Rymer of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

Jimenez graduated from the University of Miami and the Yale Law School, where he edited the Yale Law Journal and won moot court prizes for best oral argument and brief. He also holds an MBA from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School and a master's degree in national security and strategic studies from the U.S. Naval War College.